

We believe that at the heart of wellness, both physical and emotional, is a mind, body and soul that's well aligned with the Gospel of Jesus. We're atypical "counselors" in that our focus is with spiritual roots and spiritually driven behaviors as opposed to mainline psychology and psychiatry. We've found that many conditions and struggles are rooted in things like unforgiveness, fear, guilt, and the like. It's our goal to address these challenges through the power of the Holy Spirit and in this course foster freedom and truth for our clients.
